Herdade do Peso Trinca Bolotas 2016

ALICANTE BOUSCHET, TOURIGA NACIONAL, ARAGONEZ

Alentejo, Portugal

Taking over the winemaking reins at Herdade do Peso brought with it a sense of homecoming for Luís Cabral de Almeida. Born into a winemaking family, his origins date back to a farm in Viseu, deep in the Dão region, & although a 10 year-year sojourn in Argentina delivered a wealth of experience - & a Mendozan son! - home is indeed where the heart is.

Childhood visits to cousins in the Alentejo always captivated him, as did the drawn-out hunts on land adjacent to Herdade do Peso. A man of few prejudices, the combination of his own travels & his original Bordeaux grounding have renewed his belief that the oenologist's primary role - now, more than ever - is to interpret nature.

Trinca Bolotas is a deep, dark ruby colour courtesy of the inclusion of Alicante Bouschet, one of the very few teinturiers or red-fleshed grapes. The wine comes alive with an intensity of vibrant red fruit & of black plums, underscored by notes of woodland & vanilla. Dense on the palate with a long smokey finish & good tannic balance, this is an earthy, spicy, comfort wine for the dark months.

The Alentejo Pig wanders freely in the region's oak forests, enjoying a diet rich in acorns. A native of Portugal, it is both Europe's sole surviving species of grazing pig & an iconic image in the Alentejo landscape.
